The Harbor Question.

To the Editor of the Soutinet :- In an article in your issue of Friday, speaking of the appointment of Mr. Martin B. Medbury, by the Common Council, as Referee on the part of the City, to examine the claim of J. A. Hasbronck, for the construction of the first three sections of the Straight Cut Harbor, you do Mr. Medbury very great injustice, as also myself. The Common Council did refuse to allow Mi

Hasbrouck the full amount of his claim, and as a proposition from the city, as one party to the contract, did offer to pay Mr. Hasbrouck fortyfive thousand dollars, in Olty Bonds, in full for his demand. Mr. Hasbrouck declined to accept that amount. In such a condition of things, it was perfectly proper, and in accordance with the provisions of the original contract, to refer the matter of difference to three referees, of were adopted strongly denunciatory thereof .- which number the Council was to appoint one, It is true, that when Mr. Medbury was suggested as a proper and competent person to be sulceted, it occurred to me, that his appointment would be an excellent one for the city, and satisfactory to all; and it is equally true that I never exchanged a word with Mr. Medbury before or since his appointment, about the Harbor or Mr. mentioned, because he is well known to be one cratic party to meet the question like men. Judgmont, large business experience, capable ad to appoint a Committee of six to report resoand boosst, and therefore well qualified to exmaintain the rights, interests and integrity of the city, in the uniter.

There was scarcely any difference of opinion in the Council as to the propriety of appointing a Referee, at the time Mr. Greulich offered the preamble and resolution appointing Mr. Medbury. Even Mr. Prentiss made some slight cial order had arrived. It is not the part of the perfect them, and then, with others and myself, supported the appointment. I do not believe that Mr. Mudbury has ever expressed any opinion in reference to the matter, that would, in the mind of any reasonable man, prejudice his judgment or destroy confidence in him as an honest and apright man and Referee.

and it is high time he was taught so.

Mr. Ryan proceeded to speak of the iniquity of forcing a constitution upon the people of Kansas, to which they were utterly opposed, and illustrated by reference to the political history of our own State, where the people, in the exercise of an undoubted right, had rejected the first Constitution submitted, altho', in Mr. Ryan's judgment (parental partiality!) it was the best Constitution over framed. But what then, said Mr. Ryan. Who dare deny that the people had a right to reject it? Who dare affirm that we would have been right in forcing it upon them, against their will, by the help of the strong arm of the general government? And if not right for Wisconsin, how could it be right for Kansas?

The question was simply this—were they men, with judgment, conscience, will, freedom of their own; or did they belong to another man and found to do as he bid them—to elect him, one day, as the special champion of Popular Soverciguty, and follow him the next, in denouncing that same dectrine. For one, if he stood alone, he would see the President in a place that it not be polite to mentlon, before he would change his ground, surrender his principles and swallow his words. But it had been said that this movement might become factious and tend to disorder. Who said it? Why the 500 minority out of the 60,000 Democratic voters of Wisconsin.—It was this miserable minority that were apprehensive the vast majority might become factious and disorderly. He scouted this idea. There

It was this miserable minority that were apprehensive the vast majority might become factious and disorderly. He scouted this idea. There was no fear of disorder—no danger in following principles wherever they lead—and for one he would follow this principle to the end, President, or not; Cabinet, or not; Congress, or not. They were our servants, not we theirs. It was for us to command, and for them to abov. In Except to command, and for them to obey. In Europe, Kings command and the People obey, but in this country, the People command, and office-holders must obey, or quit office.

The past week, we are pleased to be able to say, has been the most sative one we have had since the close of navigation. Merchants and Traders now begin to look to the opening of the Spring trade with auticipations of their burners. Every branch of trade is steadily increas-

21/2 49 cent, and on the Stock Exchange as low as I am 3 % cent. The rates in this market range from 4 to 6 cent, and any amount of money can be raised at the spront, and any amount or money can be raised at the abortest notice. We see no possibility of any change in this state of things for some months to come. The suo-ply of expital seeking investment is more likely to in-crease than diminish, and securities paying even the ordinary rates of interest will be sought for at improving prices."

The receipts of produce in this city for the most part during the past week have been meagre, with a greatly necessed demand for leading a thoice, and an upward leadency in prices generally. The competition amongs buyers has been very brisk, and the prices of wheat pork and hides have materia ly advanced under its influence. The receipts of wheat have not been sufficient to supply the demand, and at the gloss of the week the ma ket was swept clean, with quotations higher than they have before renched since the close of navigation. Some heavy lote of club wheat were sold during the early parof the week, free on board at 65c. At the close of the week the demand was still more lively, and prices advanced. One lot of choice club for milling, was sold on Saturday at 65% cents, which is the highest price that has lately been paid for outh wheat. Some very nice lots were sold for 65, and choice sample; were quickly taken at 65 16 0 66 cts. The demand for winter wheat has all improved, although the prices have not materially changed. In other grain we have no change to notice. The pork market has not been so well supplied, nor was the lemand usually active in the early part of the week. though former prices were maintained. THE GROCERY TRADE.

Milwauxus, March 6th, 1655, We have to report a marked improvement in the Gra-cery trade during the pust week, the comparatively low prices of Sugars now current having excited an active domaind. Stoors of Goods in the interior are generally year light, and selfingers and Molasses are now lower at the South than at New York, it is probable that country desicrs will make their arrangements to buy more extensively in Milwankee, this Spring, than manal, our merchants having good facilities for obtaining Souths goods. At the same time, as each is and will be required for most transactions, there will be little opportunity for that under expansion of trade that has prevailed for the east two or three years, and it is believed that a more

LHAYNWORTH CITY, Feb. 21.
We are having dreadful times hereabouts. A noble young Free State German citizen of Leavenworth—one of our police—went up to Weston yesterday on business. He was attacked in broad day lightly a gang of men, headed by Ely Moore, Jim Murphy and, some say, Jack Henderson, who, it is report di has returned to the border counties of Missouri for the avowed purpose of excising trouble. The villains nearly killed Baker. Our people, especially the German portions in the avoyance when the proper of the season of the county of the of exciting trouble. The vilians nearly since Baker. Our people, especially the German portion, have sworn vengeance against the assassina. The teeling is deep and universal, and a storm is brewing, depend upon it, that will soon break out in fury. We have sought peace—have laborded to restore anicable relations with all, and their deade of violence as our reward.

Latest from Kansas, deeds of violence are our reward.

In a great measure is the ultra press of Missouri headed by the infamous Republican, resouri headed by the infamous Republican, reponsible for this unfortunate state of affairs. In the name of all that is good or noble, we, of Kansas, beseech the press and people of Missouri to avoid exciting, the passions and infaming the prejudices of their citizens. It is a crime against trith, treason against God and our common country. I speak not thus from fear. Kansas is not only able to take care of berself, but powerful enough to retaliate on her neighbors. But she longs for peace and quiet, and will sacrifice anything but honor, courage and principle, to receive it ceive it.

It is currently reported here to-night, that band of Platte county desperadoes, intend makin admoor ristre county desperadoes intend making a descent upon us during the week. This, we hardly credit, however.

Gen. Lane made a speech in our city last night to an immense crowd. Excitement ran high, and is was difficult to keep our citizens from striking a decided blow at some of the usurpers.

A False History. The Counsel for the Harbor Contractors o cupy a column, or more in the News of Saturday, with what they facetiously style a "lilstory of the Harbor Contract." As a work of the imagination, or as a sample of legal ability to make the wrong appear the better reason, this article may pass muster. But as a "vocitable history," it is neither worthy of credit, nor deserving of reply. We shall not attempt to answer its elaborate misrepresentations, for happily the interference of the court has defeated the cleverly contrived schome of Alderman Hadley and others, to secure the Contractors the full amount of their claim, but shall content ourselves with exposing two of its mis-statements in regard to the Sentinei. The article in question prosents a front of brass, its opening paragraph reading

The question that, just now, looms above every other in the city, is—shall Messes. Has-becuck and Course be paid for constructing the Harbor t The people have seen that the Ares Democrat and the Sentinal—having suddenly one ged square about shamelessly urgo, that this just debt be repudiated, even to the include disgrace of the city, and the financial ruin This is an impudent and wenton perversion of the facts. Everybody is agreed that Messrs. HASBROUCK & CONRO should be paid for constructing the Harbor, and the Sentinel, Instead of changing " square about" and urging the repudiation of the debt, has invariably insisted that the contractors should be promptly settled with, and paid every dollar that is their just due. Our readers will readly perceive the difference between the case, as put by the contractors' lawyers, and the case as it actually stands. The question is not, shall the contractors be paid-for as to that there is no dispute-but how much shall they be paid-all that they claim, or only what the city agreed to pay ! The Contractors' counsel quote liberally from the Sentinei files of '58 and '57 to show that we have always spoken in terms of high praise of the work at the Straight Cut, and of the Contractors' thomselves, and that we h ve once and him, "as his lather did not pay taxes." This again urged a prompt and fair settlement of it the reason given by Jared Thompson, Jr. their claim against the city. We do not take bimself. one word of all this back. What we said then, we think now. Our epinion of the merits of the Jacod Thompson, Jr., to the boy. work is unaltered; our wish to see the contractors fairly dealt with, unchanged. But justice is due to the city as well as to the contractors. We believe in paying them all that is their due, and no more. But we do not believe in the palpable jugglery by which, first, a reference has packed against the city, and next, when an attempt was made to right this wrong, the discreditable trick was reserted to of keeping the Common Council without a quorum to pregent any action. We oun tell the contractors and their counsel that nothing has contributed so much to prejudice their claim, in the estimation of all honest and fair-minded men, as these very proceedings .---That is not the way to recover a just debt, or to prosecute an equitable claim.

also because he considered diffusivitie inguing man—Mons. Chemin baving been a priest and being opposed to dusling. Accordingly, Mons. Rapp, on Monday challenged Mons. Thicle to mortal combat, and authorized his seconds to settle the preliminaries. Mons. Thiele accepted the invitation to light, and named several seconds to settle the terms of the hostile meeting on his babalf.

al propositions were made, one to fight with small swords; another to fight with duelling pistols, at from ten to fifteen paces distant; one pistols, at from ten to filteen paces distant; one to fight with revolvers, and so oh. The seconds of Mons. Thiele were unwilling to accept the offers made, on the ground that their principal had an affection of the eyes, and could not see to fight in the ways proposed. Arrangements could not be made, therefore, at that thue, and the matter dropped for the time being. Under this state of facts Mons. Rapp accessed Mons. Thiele of cowardice, and this immediately brought matters to a head. Mons. Thiele at once decided that he would fight at all bazards, and the preliminaries were settled that a fight should come off with rapiers or small swords this morning. ticulars of the fight; but it appears that after making several plunges at each other, the sword of Mons. Thiele struck Mons. Rapp in the mouth;

The seconds, two on each side, met, and seve

The ruddy tide was now spouting from the wounds of both parties. Honor was fully sails, fied, and the parties, considering the whole quartel for once and all adjusted, shook hands and swore friendship. They were then respectively borne to their carriages, brought back to the city, and put to bed, where they sail remain, under bandages and water gruel treatment, doubtless looking back with satisfaction to the sublime spectacle which, they have presented to the spectacle which they have presented to the world. Their wounds are "not so deep as a escort of the state carriage, containing the Prince and the Princes Frederick William of Prussia, which now came in sight. The shape of this specimen of the municipal splendors of Berliu is much the same as the antique and olamby twenty young Misses, in double file, drawing a small hand sled, with the barrel of Flour on it. Upon the top of the barrel was sealed. Mr. Pierson, the donor. A large omnibus sleigh, drawn by four horses, brought up the rear."

By one of our lord mayor, save that it is not perhaps quite so finely painted and varnished, or so brightly gilded. The same sort of scrollwork adorns it, however, and most important of all, the large windows of the lar ead was no other ownement than a simple tiarra of diamonds. The shouts of the multitude at her appearance were deafening, and redouble at each gracious bow of the illustrious bride an

day; if it had been bespoken it could not have been better-cold, sharp, bright, and of dazzling of Mons. Thiele struck Mons. Kapp in the month-the point passing out at the angle of the jaw, under the left ear.. The weapon was withdrawn, and the parties went at each other again; and after several more passes, the sword of Mons. Thiele struck Mons. Rapp in the lower part of the abdomen. Mons Rapp with his left hand is said to have seized the blade of the deadly in-strument and caved himself from being run-through, and at the some time thrust his sword into Mons. The Entry into Berlin.

Brandenburg gate to the palace; and a more ad-micable locality for such a spectracie at that of to-day could not be conceived. The crowd on each side was dense, but not sufficiently so, however, from the great breadth of the space on each side of the principal route, to preclude a tolerable amount of circulation, which added not a little to the liveliness of the scene. The tribunes were completely filled, and presented immense surfaces of eager heads, from time to time agitated by a sort of wave undulating across it at some common object of attraction, which moved all glances in one direction. .. These none sional simultaneous movements were chiefly caused in the commencement by the passage along the prace opened for the procession of the trades corporations, with their bands of music, police galloping down the avenue, proclaimed the approach of the festive train. In a few min-ntes the coar of the multitude, travelling along the whole line grew hearer and hearer, and at last the head of the procession came in sight, preceded by the marshals. The honor of prece-ding the entire pageant on this angust occasion butchers, who form a sort of equestrian order among the guilds, and always lead off on these occasions; a more amiable or harmless set of men as they appeared could not be desired.— They were dressed in black with cocked hats and white plumes, and had altogether a courtly agpect; belying the ferocity one is apt to connect with their trade, and quite justiying the choice of assigning them the honors of such coremonic assigning them the honors of such ceremonial processions. Next in order, mounted also, and in something like the same dress, came the merchants of Burlin. These were followed by three carriages, drawn by six horses; each containing the chief burgomaster, Herr Peryoncher, and other principal magistrates of the city; for the demonstration to day is entirely a civic one, and is the compliment which. Berlin claims an ancient privilege to offer on the occasion of the marriage of any of the royal family of Prussia.

A squadron of the guards advanced next in succession, in light blue, uniforms and plumed helmets, headed by drums and trumpets—the excert of the state carriage, containing the bridegreom. Opposite to them, sat the lady of the chief burgomaster. The Yolunteer, Rifles followed the state carrisge, and detachments of Dragoons and Life Gasrds.

As a sample of winter in Berlin, nothing could have been better arranged than the weather to clearness.

I can in these few lines inform you that no similar event of Privalan history—not the solution of the Orowa Prince she entered the city. In grand state procession, as on this the Princes Royal does not even the Huldiguing that ensued in Berlin after the coronation of the pres-ent King at Konigsburg—has been celebrated with so much real enthusiasm of the heart as this testal reception of the Princess Frederick William of Prossia.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

THE LOVE KNOT.

They were strolling together up the hill; Where the wind comes blowing merry and chill; and it blew the curbs a follocome race, all over the happy peach colored face, Till, colding and laughing, she tied them in, Under her beautiful, dimpted ohim.

Tying her bonnut under her chin, She tied her ravan riogist in; Sit not since in the sikuo nare. Did she exten her lovely floating half, or, tying her bonnet under her chin, she tied a young man's heart within.

And it blew a color, bright as the bloom Of the pinklest fuscine's tossing plame.

Or the pintlest fuschis's tossing plame. All over the chooks of the prattlest girl That ever imprisoned a remajing our, Dr, in tying her bonnet under her ohin, Tied a young man's heart within.

Steeper and atcoper grew the hill— Madder, mer.tor, childer still The western which bew down and played The wildest vices with the little maid. As, tylog her bonnet under her child, She tied a young man's heart within,

Oh, western wind, do you think it was fair

Oh, Kliery Vane, you little thought. An hour axe, when you besought This country lass to Walk with you, After the sun had dried the dew, What perlious danger you'd be in, As she tied her bunnes under her chin.

Wood's Ekstonative.—Of all the restoratives for the hair that have been invented, Wood's pre eminently olding the first place. It will certainly restorate natural color of the hair, if the directions are followed for a sufficient length of time. It has also produced attentialing effects in bringing out a growth of hair where the first hair observations are followed to pretend that it will do this in all cases; and we think his castor is a good recommendation of the vitues which his restorative really passesses. If the roots of the hair are destroyed, no human power can make them grow again; but where there is any vitality left in the root, he restorative will acon renew the hairin allits prishing vigor. It has done this repeatedly, where all other remodules had fastled. It is, therefore, worth while in allicases to make the superiment. For clearing the hold of dandruf, and those uning and a rendithing the hair, it has no rival.—Western Fairlot.

To Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New York, connecting directly with trains on the great Pennsylvania Central Railroad, to all Eastern cities. Also, with Cleviand and Onimbus Railroad to Gleveland, Denkirk, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, via New York Central and New York and Reise Railroads to New York and Boston. Persons going East will find this reute by far the most desirable both from the advantage in point of distance, variety and beauty of the country through which the roads pass, as well as the less frequent changes of arra, and the annoyance of ro-checking baggage required by other routes.

Facilities for the transportation of Freight and Live Blookhyths route, are unsurpassed. Batte as low ag any other route, and with equal dispatch.
